UNIFORM REGULATIONS
UNITED STATES NAVY

CHAPTER I

GENERAL REGULATIONS

1–1. General:

(a) The wearing of the naval uniform should be a matter of personal pride to all naval personnel. All officers and men and members of the Navy Nurse Corps shall provide themselves with the correct uniform as prescribed by these regulations, and are for bidden to wear any other than the regulation uniform, insignia, or devices of their respective rank, corps, or rating, or any medals or orders in any other way than hereinafter prescribed.

(b) It shall be the duty of those intrusted with authority to enforce the provisions of these regulations.

(c) The uniform, with its various insignia and devices, is designed primarily to indicate on sight those belonging to the naval service; to show at a glance their rank, corps, or ratings, and hence the authority and responsibility imposed by law upon those wearing it.

(d) Uniforms shall be kept scrupulously clean, with lace, devices, and insignia bright and free from tarnish and corrosion. Clothes and equipment shall be made of high grade material.

(e) Officers and enlisted men on duty shall at all times wear the uniform of their respective grades, as prescribed by the senior officer present, except as otherwise designated herein.

1–2. Chaplains.—Chaplains shall not wear the cocked hat, epaulets, sword, sword belt, or full-dress trousers, and in lieu of the cocked hat and blue full-dress trousers, when prescribed, they shall wear a cap and plain blue cloth trousers. They may wear the vestments of the church to which they belong on occasions requiring it.

1–3. Acting Commissions.—Officers under acting commissions for special purposes or for temporary duty only shall not be required to have uniforms and equipment other than blue service dress and white service dress. This does not apply to officers in the permanent service who hold temporary commissions in a higher grade.

1–4. Retired Officers.—Officers on the retired list shall be entitled to wear the prescribed uniforms of the rank in which retired. If ordered to duty, they shall wear the uniform prescribed for officers on active duty.

1–5. Officers Suspended.—Officers suspended from duty by sentence of court-martial, or on furlough, or waiting orders for punishment, are prohibited from wearing the uniform during these periods.

1–6. Civilian Clothing, Officers.—Officers may be permitted to have and to wear when off duty civilian clothing, but discretion must be observed in granting this privilege in foreign ports. No part of the prescribed uniform or equipment shall be worn at the same time that civilian clothes are worn, except articles which do not present a distinct naval appearance, such as raincoats, shoes, socks, gloves, linen, and underwear. Miniature medals may be worn on appropriate occasions with civilian evening dress.

1–7. Civilian Clothing, Enlisted Men:

(a) Enlisted men shall not be allowed to have civilian clothing in their possession on board ship. Enlisted men may be permitted to wear civilian clothes when on leave or liberty in

United States ports, but they shall not wear civilian clothing ashore in a foreign port, except where the laws prohibit the wearing of foreign uniforms. (Foreign uniforms are not allowed to be worn in Switzerland unless prior authority has been obtained through diplomatic channels.)

(b) No part of the uniform shall be worn with civilian clothing, except articles which do not present a distinct naval appearance, such as the overcoat, raincoat, jersey, underclothing, socks, gloves, shoes, and overshoes.

(c) When on duty, or when ashore in a foreign port, enlisted men of the Navy or Marine Corps shall wear the prescribed uniform, whether serving on shore or afloat.

1–8. Uniform of the Day:

(a) The uniform to be worn for the season, day, or occasion shall be prescribed by the senior officer present, with due regard to the duty to be performed and the state and variation of the weather.

(b) The uniform of the day shall be regulated by the senior officer present to insure that the dress for officers and men is the same for all in the same locality. The senior officer present afloat shall inquire of the commandant or senior officer present ashore what uniform is being prescribed, in order to preserve the desired uniformity for liberty parties and others.

(c) In the fleet the uniform of the day prescribed by the senior officer present shall be worn by officers of the watch; by all petty officers, signalmen, and others on watch above decks, and by boats' crews; by all persons above deck at "all hands" when going in or out of port; and generally by all officers and men above decks and in common living spaces; but commanding officers may prescribe or permit the working uniform for other persons as may be most suitable to the exercise or duty of the ship at the time.

(d) A dress board, in which will be indicated the uniform of the day for officers and for the crew, shall be kept posted in a conspicuous place.

(e) When embarked on Army transports, those of the naval service shall wear the uniform prescribed by the senior naval line officer or marine line officer embarked. The prescribed uniform insofar as practicable shall conform to that prescribed by the officer commanding the troops embarked.

(f) Prescribed uniforms shall be designated in the terms used in these regulations, and in the following sequence:

(1) Officers of the Navy.

(2) Officers of the Marine Corps.

(3) Chief petty officers (and men wearing similar clothing), if different from that for other enlisted men of the Navy.

(4) Enlisted men of the Navy.

(5) Enlisted men of the Marine Corps.

(g) When white uniforms, or uniforms any part or parts of which are white, are designated, they shall be so prescribed that officers and men of all branches shall be similarly clothed, insofar as practicable.

1–9. Exceptions to Uniform of the Day:

(a) Cooks, officers' cooks, and bakers at work in the galleys and bake shops shall wear white undress, bakers' and cooks' caps, and white aprons. When not on duty there, they shall wear the uniform of the day. Messmen while performing their duties as such shall wear white undress and white aprons (marines, the corresponding uniform), and they may wear this uniform any time below decks, but at quarters and off duty they shall wear the uniform of the day. Mess attendants on board ship when performing duties in the wardroom shall at all times wear the white jacket with white or blue trousers, according to the prescribed uniform of the day. When leaving the ship they shall wear the same uniform as other enlisted men.

(b) In warm weather aboard ship, chief petty officers who may be engaged in work which might stain, soil, or wet their clothing may be permitted to remove their coats.

(c) At sea and in isolated anchorages for target practice or similar service, when hot weather or other conditions render it desirable, the uniform of the day for enlisted men may be modified by omitting the jumper. When this uniform is prescribed, chief petty officers shall omit coat and wear outer shirt, with belt instead of suspenders to support the trousers. This uniform will be indicated by signal, and particular care must be taken that none but clean uniform undershirts or shirts are worn, and that a neat appearance is preserved at mess. Members of the guard shall not wear this uniform.

(d) The foul-weather clothing or other prescribed protective clothing may be worn as circumstances warrant.

(e) The working uniform may be worn as prescribed by the senior officer present.

(f) Chief petty officers' blue flannel shirts may be worn when prescribed by the senior officer present.

1–10. Officer of the deck.—The officer of the deck shall wear gloves and carry binoculars or a spyglass in port; at sea he shall carry binoculars and have a deck trumpet or megaphone directly at hand. Appropriate side arms may be prescribed by competent authority.

1–11. Arms at Quarters.—At ordinary daily quarters on board ship no arms shall be worn by officers unless their men be under arms, except on occasions when the drill instructions prescribe arms.

1–12. Side Arms, Leggings, Etc.:

(a) Sword, leggings, and black shoes shall be worn by officers when parading with enlisted men under arms; when parading in full dress or dress, leggings shall not be worn.

(b) Leggings shall be worn by enlisted men of the Navy with any form of dress when under arms for parade or ceremony, for infantry or artillery drill, when in a landing party, or on guard detail, or when on duty ashore as patrol or beachmaster's guard, or as mail orderly. With leggings high black shoes shall be worn by enlisted men.

(c) Swords shall be worn at formal inspections of the crew on board ship, when prescribed by drill regulations and when designated as part of the uniform. They shall not be worn unhooked except when the officer is mounted. When worn without other side arms, the sword belt shall be outside the frock coat and under all others; the sword shall be worn outside of the overcoat.

(d) An officer detailed to place another officer under arrest shall wear the sword.

(e) When the pistol is carried, the belt shall be worn outside of every coat, including the overcoat, the pistol being worn slightly in front of the right hip. The cartridge attachments worn with the pistol belt shall be worn in front and at the right and left of the belt buckle. If only one cartridge attachment is worn, it shall be at the right of the buckle. Web suspenders (single or double) may be prescribed for use with pistol belt, to prevent sagging when heavy items of equipment are worn.

(f) A petty officer on boat duty, in charge of guard boat or on other special duty, shall wear the service pistol belt, but this provision shall not apply to the coxswain of a boat unless the boat's crew is armed.

(g) Officers or men wearing side arms shall not remove their caps or other head covering except indoors.

(h) The sword knot shall be worn by commissioned officers only.

(i) Officers on shore patrol shall wear the uniform of the day with gloves and brassards.

1–13. Midshipmen Uniforms.—The duly-authorized and approved uniforms for midshipmen at the United States Naval Academy (which are prescribed by the Superintendent of the Naval Academy) shall be described in terms used in these regulations, in order that when midshipmen are serving with other forces and the uniform for any occasion is designated, it will apply alike to midshipmen's uniform appropriate for the occasion.

1–14. Standard Phraseology.—When official references are made to the uniform by any person in the Navy, by any bureau, or in any official publication, the terms set forth in the Uniform Regulations, U. S. Navy, shall be used.

1–15. Pins and Jewelry.—No watch chains, fobs, pins, or other jewelry shall be worn exposed upon the uniform by any officer or enlisted man of the Navy, except sleeve buttons, and shirt studs as prescribed, and the authorized decorations, medals, and ribbons.

1–16. The Hair and Beard.—The hair, beard, and mustache shall be neatly trimmed. The face shall be kept clean-shaved, except that a mustache, or beard and mustache, may be worn at discretion. No eccentricities in the manner of wearing the hair, beard, or mustache shall be permitted.

1–17. Inspection of Clothing and Bedding:

(a) Commanding officers shall cause the men's clothing and bedding to be inspected by the division officers periodically, taking care that the inspections are so conducted as not to be unnecessarily irksome to the men. They shall encourage the men to keep their uniforms clean and neat and do everything possible to facilitate the proper care, cleaning, fitting, and preservation of the uniforms and equipment.

(b) Division officers shall inspect the clothing and bedding of the men in their divisions and insure that they have the prescribed outfit at all times. They shall make inspections at stated intervals to determine that the clothing and bedding are clean, ample, properly marked, and strictly in accordance with regulations.

(c) On the arrival on board of men transferred from another ship or station, their outfits shall be inspected promptly. Should any man be transferred or received without the prescribed outfit, the facts shall be reported to the commanding officer.

1–18. Transfer or Exchange of Clothing.—No transfer or exchange of clothing shall be made without the authority of the commanding officer. When clothing belonging to deserters is sold, the name of the deserter shall be obliterated with a stamp marked "D. C.," and the purchaser's name shall be placed upon it as soon as possible.

1–19. Regulation Clothing:

(a) All wearing apparel drawn from a supply officer or from the quartermaster's department of the Marine Corps shall be considered uniform.

(b) Clothes made by the men for themselves, made by ship's tailors for them, or received by them from other than official sources, shall conform strictly in material, pattern, and making to those issued by the Government.

(c) Standard samples, as approved by the Bureau of Navigation, of every article of enlisted men's uniforms shall be kept at the Naval Clothing Depot. The articles issued to ships shall conform in every respect to the standard samples, and no change shall be permitted without the sanction of the Secretary of the Navy.

1–20. Marine Expeditionary Force.—Naval officers and enlisted men serving with an expeditionary force of marines may wear the field uniform and insignia prescribed, respectively, for officers and enlisted men of the Marine Corps, except that on the right side of the garrison cap, instead of the emblem of the Marine Corps, they shall wear a half-size, bronze replica of the cap device of a commissioned officer of the Navy. Other insignia designation of rank or rating shall be in accordance with the regulations applying to the working uniform.

1–21. Marine Personnel Serving With Naval Forces.—The uniforms worn by officers and men of the Marine Corps when serving afloat or ashore under naval command shall be as prescribed by the senior officer present.

14-31. Long Coat.—This garment shall be made of waterproof material, and shall be of such length to extend to a point approximately halfway between the knee and the ankle. It shall have a pocket with flap on each side and shall be closed in front with buckle or snap fasteners and so constructed as to prevent water reaching inside of coat. Collar shall be so constructed that it may be fastened around neck or worn turned down. (See Plate 53.)

14-32. Short Coat.—This garment shall be similar to the long coat except there shall be no pockets and it shall be of such length to reach approximately to the crotch line. (See Plate 52.)

14-33. Trousers.—Trousers shall be made of same material as the coat and shall be of the overall type. There shall be two front pockets and crossed suspender straps which shall fasten to upper corners of front bib. (See Plate 54.)

CHAPTER XV

DECORATIONS, MEDALS, BADGES, AND RIBBONS

15–1. General.—Decorations, medals, badges, and ribbons shall be worn with the uniform as prescribed under the heading of "Designation of uniform." The laws governing the award of the Medal of Honor, Distinguished Service Medal, and Navy Cross are set forth in the act of Congress approved February 4, 1919.

15–2. Manner of Wearing:

(a) In order to clarify briefly the question of wearing decorations, medals, and badges, large and miniature, the following basic information and background for selection of appropriate insignia on various occasions is presented:

(1) Three types of insignia considered herein are: Large medals, miniature medals, and ribbons.

(2) Large medals or ribbons are worn with uniforms in the daytime.

(3) Miniature medals are worn with evening uniforms.

(4) Medals are worn when gold-striped trousers are worn, and also when Dress, blue, and Evening Dress, blue, "A" and "B" are worn. Ribbons are worn at all other times.

(b) The Medal of Honor is worn pendant from a ribbon placed around the neck under the coat. With Full Dress, white, the ribbons pass out from inside the coat collar between the upper and lower collar hooks, the medal hanging one inch below the collar. With evening clothes it hangs one inch below the tie. With frock coat, the medal hangs just below the opening where lapels meet.

(c) Medals and badges, except the Medal of Honor, shall be worn on the left breast, in one horizontal line, suspended from a single holding bar, the upper edge of which shall be on a line one inch below the point of the shoulder. (By "the point of the shoulder" is meant a point in front halfway between the top and the bottom of the shoulder joint.) The holding bar shall not be longer than from the fold of the left lapel of the frock coat to the armhole seam, and so placed upon the uniform that its center shall be at a point midway between the fold of the left lapel of the coat and the left armhole. When a medal or badge has an exposed bar at the top of the ribbon, such bar shall be mounted on the front of the holding bar or shall form a part of such bar, and where there are several such exposed bars on a single medal or badge, the uppermost bar shall be so mounted. When the number of medals and badges to be worn is such that they cannot all be suspended from a holding bar of the prescribed length, and at the same time be fully seen, they shall overlap sufficiently to permit them all to be mounted on the bar, each medal or badge partially covering the one on its left, and the right-hand one showing in full, the overlapping being equal for all of the medals and badges worn. The holding bar for the suspension of medals and badges shall be of metal or other material of sufficient stiffness and shall be wholly covered by the ribbons or exposed bars.

(d) Ribbons of decorations, medals, and badges shall be worn in horizontal rows of three each, if that number or more be possessed, the rows to be spaced ¼ inch apart. If not in multiples of three, the upper row shall contain the lesser number, the center of this row to be over the center of the one below it. They shall be worn on the left breast clear of the lapel, as far as practicable, and in a position corresponding to that of the bar for medals and badges. These ribbons shall be made in ½ inch lengths of the same ribbon that supports the decoration, medal, or badge, with sufficient stiffening to keep them from wrinkling, without intervals, and shall be sewed to the service dress, blue, coat. They shall be arranged similarly on a bar or bars to be pinned to the frock, service dress, white, and mess dress coats.

15–3. Miniatures.—Miniature replicas of all medals (except the Medal of Honor) and decorations shall be of a scale one-half of that of the original and shall be worn pinned on the left lapel in lieu of medals on uniforms as prescribed. Miniature medals may be prescribed by competent authority for full dress, white. The Medal of Honor shall not be worn in miniature.

The law permits them to be worn upon all occasions of ceremony by officers and men of the Army, Navy, and Marine Corps who are members of said organizations in their own right. Persons who by right of inheritance and election are members of any of the above-named societies are members thereof in their own right.

15–6. Restriction of Number of Identical Medals to Be Issued to Any One Person.—Not more than one Medal of Honor or one Distinguished Service medal or one Navy Cross shall be issued to any one person, but for each succeeding deed of service sufficient to justify the award the President may award a suitable emblem or insignia to be worn with the decoration and the corresponding rosette or other device. By direction of the President a gold five-pointed star, ¼ inch in diameter, will be issued to any person already holding a Medal of Honor, Distinguished Service medal, or Navy Cross, to denote the award of a second Medal of Honor, Distinguished Service medal, or Navy Cross, respectively. The star will be worn on the ribbon attached to the medal or cross and also upon the service ribbon when worn in lieu of the medal or cross.

15–7. When Decorations, Medals, Badges, and Ribbons Must Not Be Worn.—Decorations, medals, badges, and ribbons shall not be worn on overcoats, nor with civilian clothes, except that on appropriate occasions miniature medals may be worn with civilian evening dress. Rosettes or buttons are authorized with all decorations, medals, and badges for optional wear with civilian clothes, to consist of the ribbons of the respective medals made up in rosette form. Honorable discharge buttons may be worn with civilian clothes.

15–8. When Medals and Badges Having No Ribbons Shall Be Worn.—Medals and badges having no ribbons shall be worn only when other medals and badges are worn, except that medals or badges for excellence in gunnery or small arms shall be worn when the ribbons of decorations, medals, and badges are prescribed, ¼ inch below the center of the ribbons.

15–9. Foreign Decorations:

(a) Foreign decorations may not be publicly shown or exposed upon the person of the officer so receiving the same except where authority of law exists therefor. The act of Congress of July 9, 1918, authorizes American citizens who, between August 1, 1914, and July 9, 1918, received decorations or medals for distinguished service in the armies or in connection with the field service of those nations engaged in war against the Imperial German Government, to wear such medals or decorations on entering the military service of the United States (10 U. S. C. 1422). This same act authorizes any officer or enlisted man in the military forces of the United States to accept and wear any medal or decoration bestowed before July 9, 1918, by the Government of any of the Nations concurrently engaged with the United States in the World War (10 U. S. C. 1423).

(b) Except as otherwise prescribed below, when authorized by law the wearing of foreign decorations or service medals and the corresponding service ribbons is optional. They shall be worn on the same occasions as prescribed for American decorations, service medals, or badges and service ribbons, respectively, and shall be arranged in the order of the dates of receipt to the left of all American decorations, service medals, and service badges, except that when one individual possesses two or more decorations from the same foreign country, the order of precedence of those particular decorations shall be determined by the rules of the country concerned.

(c) An individual not possessing a Medal of Honor and having a foreign decoration which, under the rules of the country concerned, is required to be worn at the neck will so wear it. In case the Medal of Honor has been conferred and also a foreign decoration which, under the rules of the country concerned, shall be worn in no other place than suspended from the neck, the foreign decoration shall be so worn but shall show below the Medal of Honor.

(d) So far as may be consistent with the above, foreign decorations and medals will be worn as nearly as practicable in accordance with the regulations of the country concerned.

(e) A person who has received a decoration from the government of a foreign country will wear the decoration as a courtesy to that country when attending any public function in any country in the house of or in honor of a public official or other distinguished citizen or subject of the country whose decoration he possesses. A foreign decoration or service medal will not be worn alone; at least one American decoration, medal, or badge must be worn with a foreign award.

CHAPTER XVIII

CARE OF THE UNIFORM

18–1. Necessity for Care of Uniform and Equipment.—The longest service of the various articles of the prescribed uniform can be obtained only by proper care and maintenance. The information contained in this chapter is presented in order that the useful life of uniforms and equipment may be prolonged, and also that they may be worn with the justifiable pride which should distinguish a naval or military uniform.

18–2. General Care.—No matter how well fitting a uniform, and especially the coat, is when new, it will not continue to look its best or keep its shape unless it is carefully put on and kept buttoned. The carrying of large or heavy objects in the pockets will speedily destroy the shape of the best coat. Uniforms should always be kept on hangers when not in use.

18–3. To Fold a Coat.—Spread it out, lining down, on a table and turn up the collar. Straighten out the sleeves and fold each side from the lapel notch, bringing lower corners to center seam. Fold the coat over once on center seam. If the container will not allow the coat to be packed at its full length, turn the sleeves up at the elbow before folding the coat.

18–4. Moths.—Frequent brushing and exposure to sunshine and fresh air will effectually prevent moths. If uniforms are to be put away for a long time and left undisturbed, thoroughly clean and then pack away with camphor balls, naphthalene, cedar wood, or balls of cotton saturated with turpentine.

18–5. To Remove Oil or Grease From Blue Uniforms.—Soak a piece of blue cloth in chloroform, carbon tetrachloride, petroleum benzine, benzol, or acetone, and rub the spot briskly. The stain will be washed out. The solvent will be rapidly evaporated.

18–6. To Remove Kerosene.—Wash in a solution of warm soapy water.

18–7. To Remove Stains From Blue Uniforms.—Paint stains, while still fresh, can be removed by use of the method given above for removing oil or grease. Old and hard paint stains are difficult to remove and oftentimes impossible. The best treatment for old paint stains is to rub them hard with a piece of blue cloth saturated in turpentine.

18–8. Paraffin, Wax, Etc.—Place blotting paper over the spot and apply a hot iron to the blotting paper. Continue this, using clean blotting paper, until the spot is removed.

18–9. Iodine Stains.—Iodine stains can be readily removed by applying a solution of "Hypo" (sometimes called "anticolor") used in photography, or sodium hyposulphite, and then rinsing thoroughly with water. It may also be removed by using starch as prepared for laundry purposes. Immerse the stained part in the starch and boil; it first turns blue then disappears.

18–10. Chocolate.—Cover the stain with borax and wash with cold water, then pour boiling water on the stain and rub vigorously between the hands. When dry, sponge with a little naphtha, chloroform, or benzine.

18–11. To Remove Rust, Ink, or Fruit Stains From White Uniforms.—Soak the stained part in a solution of oxalic acid, or put some powdered oxalic acid or sodium or potassium acid oxalate on the stain previously moistened with water and rub with a piece of white cotton or linen. The stain will dissolve and can be washed out with water. Oxalic acid and its soluble salts are very poisonous, and care should be taken in handling them.

18–12. Care of Gold Lace.—Gold lace will rapidly tarnish and deteriorate if in contact with or hung near any substance containing sulphur, such as rubber or ordinary manila and kraft wrapping paper.

18–13. To Remove Tarnish from Gold Lace.—Gold lace may be cleaned by dipping it in a solution of potassium cyanide and rinsing it thoroughly with water. The use of potassium cyanide is very dangerous, as it is a powerful poison, and extreme care must be exercised. Never under any consideration use it when hands bear cuts or scratches. In any case, it is far safer to have an experienced tailor clean gold lace.

18–14. Mildew.—If stain is recent, simply use cold water. If it is an old stain, bleach.

18–15. To Clean Buttons That Have Turned Green.—Buttons sometimes turn green when the gold plating is worn off and the copper base becomes covered with green copper carbonate due to exposure to moist air. This can be removed by rubbing gently with acetic acid or any substance containing this acid, such as vinegar or Worcestershire sauce, followed by a thorough washing in fresh water and drying.

18–16. To Remove Shine from Serge Uniforms.—The spot to be treated should be steamed by laying a wet cloth over it and pressing with a hot iron and then rubbing it very gently with a piece of "00" sandpaper or emery cloth. This should be done by a regular tailor.

18–17. To Repair a Clean Cut in a Serge or Cloth Uniform.—A clean cut in a serge or cloth uniform can be repaired by being rewoven with threads drawn from the material in another part of the garment. This must be done by an experienced tailor. This process is rather expensive, but a cut so repaired cannot be detected after being rewoven.

18–18. To Remove a Singe Mark.—A light singe mark on a blue serge or cloth should be rubbed vigorously with the flat side of a silver coin. This will in many cases make a great improvement in appearance. It is, however, not effective in the cases of bad singes or scorches.

18–19. Cap Devices.—These and other embroidered insignia may be kept new and bright by scrubbing them occasionally with a nail brush and ammonia which has been diluted with water. This should be done as soon as there are any signs of tarnishing or corrosion. If corrosion has been allowed to continue until it has gained a stronghold, the device cannot be restored to its original condition.

18–20. Metal Cap Devices.—The gold part of this device may be cleaned by washing it with soap and water or by rubbing it with any kind of polishing cloth; the sterling silver part can be cleaned with any silver polish.

(2) No issue of clothing or small stores shall be made to any person in debt to the Government or against whom a checkage is pending which may put him in debt, except on written authority of the commanding officer and a statement upon the requisition that the issue is necessary for the health and comfort of the person requiring it.

(3) Division officers shall require each man to whom an issue of clothing or small stores is made to present the articles drawn, together with his copy of the receipt given by him to his division officer or to some person in that division designated by such officer to check off.

(1) Persons confined in prisons in pursuance of the sentence of a naval court martial shall, during such confinement, be allowed a reasonable sum, not to exceed $3 per month, for necessary prison expenses, and shall, upon discharge, be furnished with suitable civilian clothing, only in cases where the prisoners so discharged would otherwise be unprovided with suitable clothing.

(3) Persons discharged from the naval service for bad conduct, undesirability, inaptitude, and in addition, in the case of marines, for unfitness, may be required upon discharge to surrender their outer uniforms, and may be furnished with necessary civilian outer clothing at the expense of the Government at a cost not to exceed $15 in each case.

"Provided further, That reimbursement for loss, destruction, or damage sustained and determined as herein provided shall be made in kind for such articles as are customarily issued to the service and shall be made in money for other articles at the valuation thereof, at the time of their loss, destruction or damage, and
